The new grade school dedication was an exciting experience for the elementary students, who sang to the delight of all in attendance.

After announcing his leaving home, Adam (Kenny Petersen), sings "A Woman Ought to Know Her Place" in the all school musical.

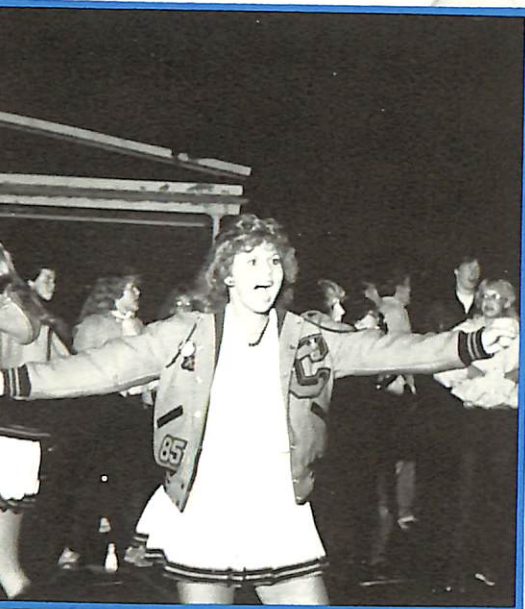

After the starting line-up of the volleyball team has been announced, the girls give a fire-up cheer before the game with Farson.

While waiting for the senior boys to return from lighting the C, Kathy Nate inspires spirit in the awaiting homecoming pep rally crowd.

Among those who spoke at the dedication of the new elementary school was Max Call, the architect of the beautiful new building.

A Few Breaks a Day

Keep the Doctors Away

Time outs are life-savers of times. Whether before school, during lunch, between classes, or after school, free time for CHS students and even faculty is often the best medicine. The free time is usually spent 'shooting the bull,' chucking candy, finishing assignments due that day, or just plain 'taking a breather.' While working hard in classes all day, these daily time outs give freedom needed for giving full effort the rest of the time.

Teri Dayton and Andrea Meicalfe let loose in a needed break between classes.

The afternoon buses bring the most welcome break of the day.

During lunch break some students make time for 'serious study' of current events.

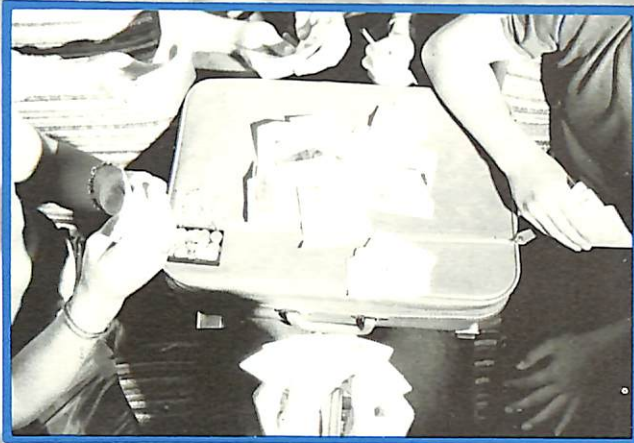

Our Pride Never Dies

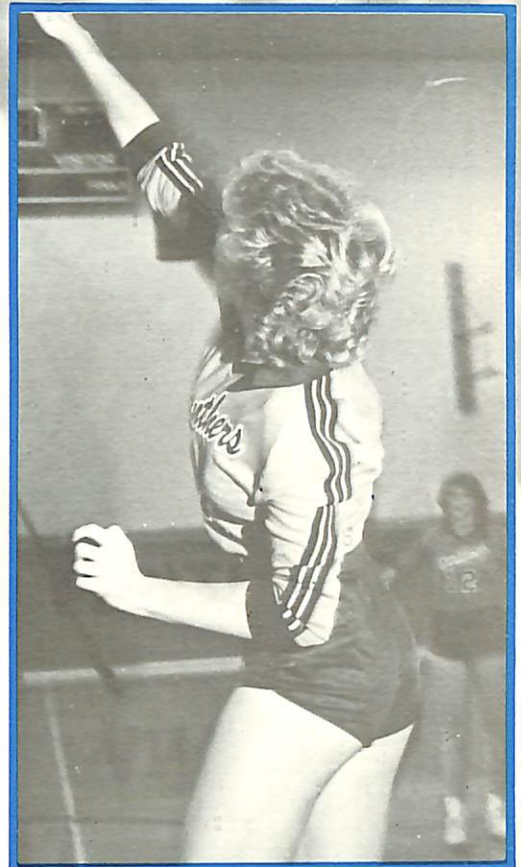

You can't be anything but proud in an orange and black uniform with the loyal fans cheering at full volume. With high expectations and mutual support, everyone pulls together to uphold the reputation of CHS. From sports to music, extracurricular activities are the heart of student social life. On the road to being the best, we've found friends, teachers, coaches, and teammates that are unforgettable.

over our Unforgettable Homecoming.

State Champs Made Homecoming Unforgettable

The Panthers had six shutouts this year, allowing only four teams to score. At the end of the season the Panthers had scored 277 points and had only 36 points scored against them. The most memorable shutout made Homecoming UNFORGETTABLE as the Panthers defeated the Pinedale Wranglers 38 to 0.

Homecoming Was Unforgettable

You could feel the excitement in the air as the Homecoming week of 1984 started out with everyone coming to school in their pajamas. The week was full with fun and laughter as Tuesday was Jersey day, Wednesday was Teamwork day, and Thursday was Sweet talkin' Dude and Chic day. That night the students, teachers and alumni cheered at the top of their lungs as the Senior boys lit the C. At the rodeo grounds, everyone watched as the Pinedale Wrangler dummy burned to the ground. On Friday everyone was covered in orange and black.

The assembly honored the classes that ended with the number 4. After the parade, our Panther team beat the Wranglers 38-0. That night the Homecoming dance topped off a great week with lots of fun and music.

On Pajama Day, Amy Nostaja and Misti Taylor model their lingerie.

After the burning of the dummy, the senior boys went to the cafeteria and participated in the pep rally.

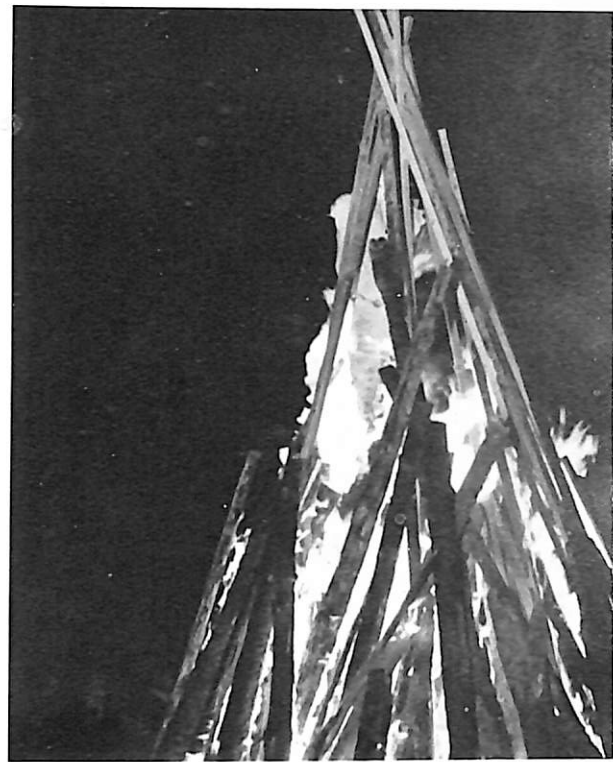

Along with the other cheerleaders Amy Diamond was disappointed to have to wear her old uniform for the Homecoming pep rally.

During Teamwork day, when members of each class dressed alike, Brian Toomer, Rick Excell, and Robby Taylor discussed which class looked the best.

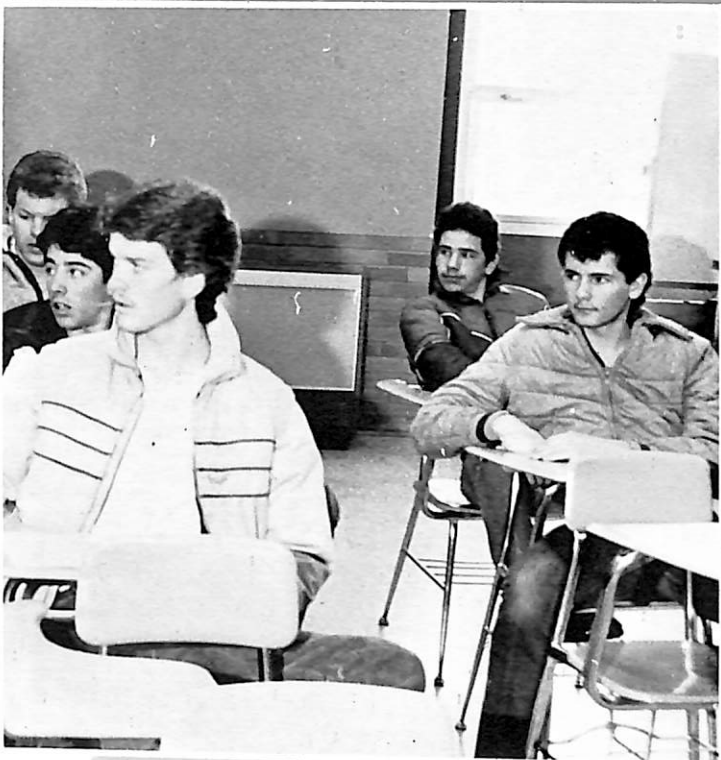

The juniors demonstrated all the ways that Panthers are unforgettable.

As tradition dictates the juniors prepared the bonfire to burn the effigy of Pindale supplied by the 8th grade, helping to bolster the spirit of the team for a Homecoming victory.

Before the crowds arrived at the sophomore class chili dinner, Jimmy LaRocco and Mrs. Weston peeled and sliced carrots while Amy Dimond supervised.

The junior boys always play with the junior girls while they are at activities during class meetings.

Murphy's Law Plagues Seniors

Everything that can go wrong will go wrong. If you don't believe it ask the class of '85 — or any previously graduated class.

Their ball, for instance, had to be finished in two days while Murphy's Law seemed to be in full force. They couldn't find a band, had forgotten to order crowns for the royalty, and as always, had stubborn decorations which refused to stay on the wall.

After the members of Mr. Birch's Senior English class returned from BYU, "The Heat Is On," sung by Glen Frye for the hit movie Beverly Hills Cop, became their theme song. A senior seen in the type room frantically trying to get his research paper written and typed before the deadline was not an unusual sight.

Sports were another story, however, for this class. The boys succeeded in a State Championship in football for the second year in a row while the girls brought home consolation trophies in both volleyball and basketball.

The class of '85 had a great year, filled with activities such as their Senior Sneak, a video dance, and just plain goofing around.

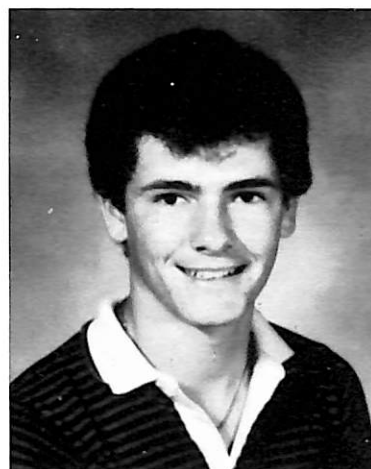

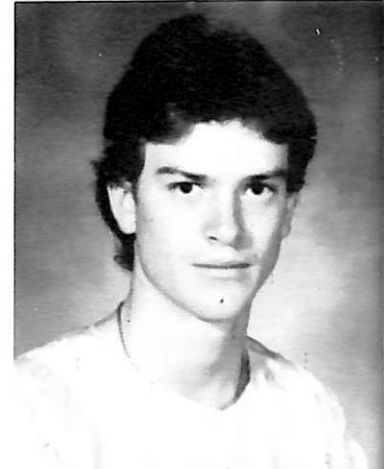

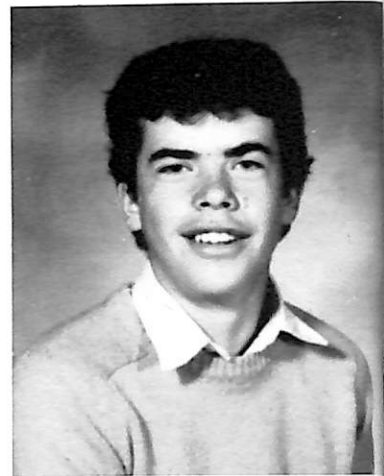

All of the seniors seem to agree that they left behind a lot of good memories and that their final year at CHS was "Unforgettable."

The heat is on as the seniors frantically try to get their research papers done.

Juniors Moon Prom

A painting of a full moon on the desert was the highlight of the Junior Prom. In purple and black, the Juniors created a dramatic setting for the theme 'Desert Moon.' The long week of decorating was interrupted by a class pizza party. All the hard work was rewarded with a full house on the big night. The crown came tumbling down when the crown bearer, Jesse Birch, tripped and fell.

The class honored the seniors at the annual Junior-Senior banquet. To help fund their activities, the class sold panther caps.

The class presidency worked hard to make the year a success. The officers were Mike Kennington, President; Mary Larson, Vice President; Andra Birch, Secretary; and Blair Robinson, Representative.

As the crowd applauded, the King, Blair Robinson, crowned a surprised Mary Larson Queen.

During the floor show, the Juniors and attendants danced to this year's theme, 'Desert Moon.'

Working together, the juniors had a great year.

FRESHMAN YEAR

Traditionally the freshmen attempt to survive the upperclassmen and earn recognition in the high school. This class was no different as they tried to escape (and rarely succeeded) being thrown into snowbanks and put on the water fountain. These freshmen, however, didn't experience the upper hand of the seniors as much as previous classes. The most difficult part of the year for this class wasn't necessarily what went on in school but after school as they endured two-a-day football practices and ran twenty-seven second ladders.

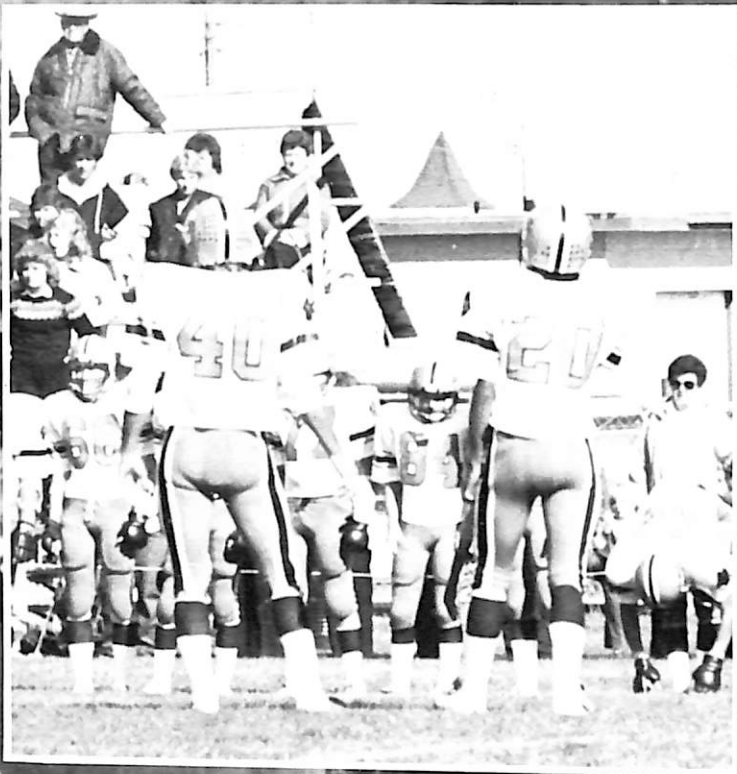

Most of the freshmen kept busy with extracurricular activities and an occasional party.

After Glenn Prows put his thoughts into words, Seniors Tim Teichert and Brian Toomer put their thoughts into actions.

Tim Teichert worked hard in his quarter-final match and won, enabling him to wrestle in the semi-final which he lost in a tough match.

Kenny Petersen, number 40, and Willie Martinez, number 20, await the announcement of the other starters at the beginning of the game against Big Piney which resulted in a 35-0 victory for the Panthers.

Gridders Supply Instant Replay

The Panthers weren't content with winning the first 1-A state football championship. They came back and won the second one defeating the Midwest Oilers again. Their season was almost exactly the same as last year except that they bettered their wins by one. Last year they lost to Mt. View and Kemmerer, this year they were only two points away from being undefeated, losing to Kemmerer 7 to 9. Several of the team members made the all-State team. Tim Teichert and Shane McKinnon were named the 1-A players of the year, by the state's 1-A coaches. Brian Toomer was named the Casper Star-Tribune 1-A player of year.

Varsity Boys Get Revenge

The boys' varsity basketball team had a successful season. They placed third at regionals and went on to the state play-offs.

After suffering a 17 point loss to Snake River during the season they got revenge against the Rattlers by defeating them 78-55.

At the Regional Play-offs the Panthers had a good start against Jeffrey City, defeating them 73-57. They ran into trouble during the second game getting beat by Snake River, 66-53. After their loss to Snake River, the Panthers buckled down to play their kind of basketball and beat Farson 60-44, and then Encampment 59-37.

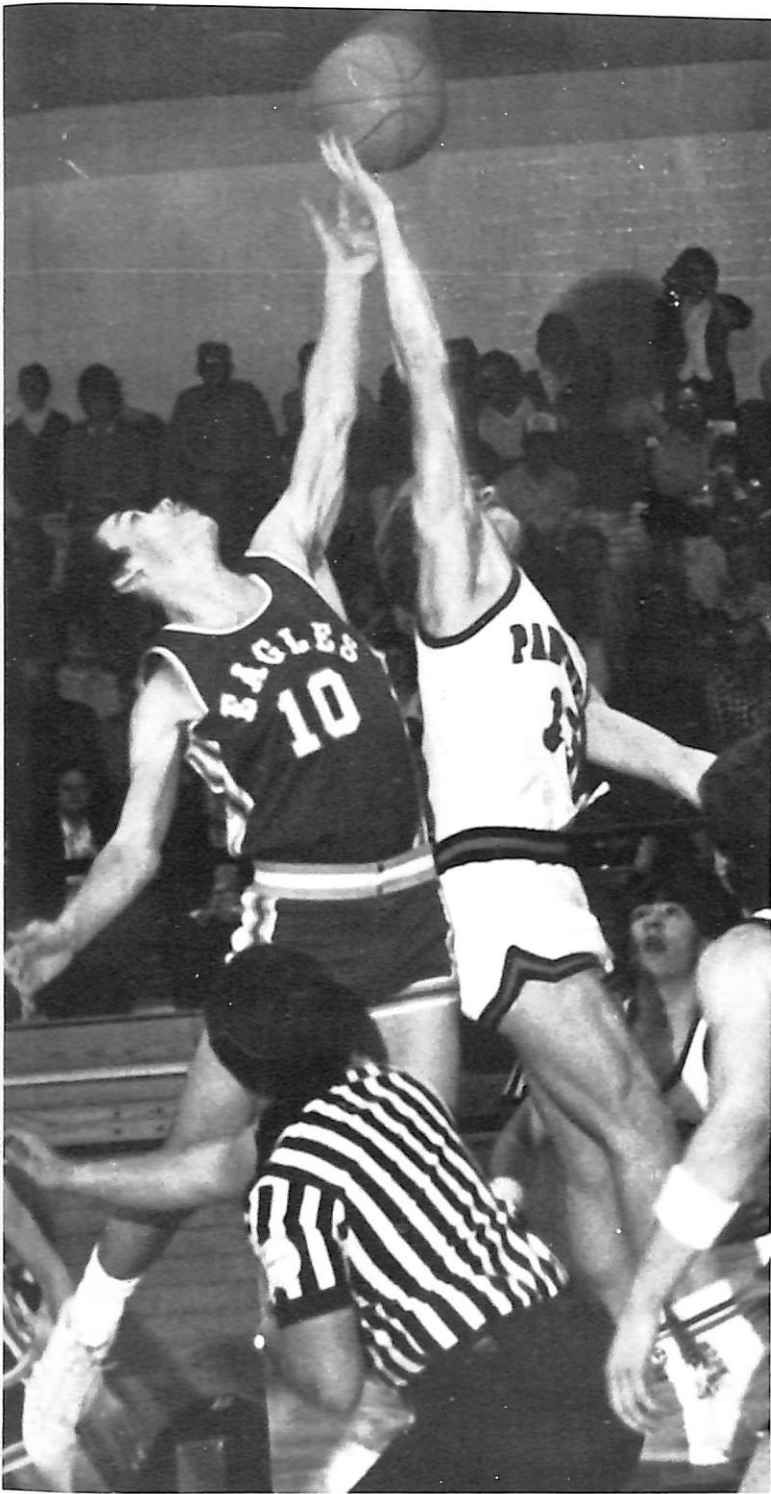

The boys were excited about their State Play-off berth and felt well-prepared as they went to Casper. In their first game the Panthers met up with the south East Goshen Cyclones who had won second in their conference. The boys played an excellent game and defeated the Cyclones 71-66, as Tim Teichert had a season high 34 points. During the second game the Panthers met another rough team, the Big Horn Rams, and were defeated by 1 point in O.T., 50-49. In the Consolation bracket the Panthers easily beat the Wright Panthers 77-61. The Panthers had only two more games to win to receive the Consolation Championship, but they needed to beat the Bow Basin Wranglers whom they hadn't beaten all year. They were eliminated 81-70.

J.V. Players Get Minutes in Varsity Games

The junior varsity basketball team had a highly successful season. They finished with a 12-4 record. Three of their losses came against 2-A schools and the fourth one against North Gem who is not in our region. Some of the junior varsity starters played a key role on the varsity team. After Shane McKinnon was injured, Aaron Metcalfe and Mike Kennington alternated as varsity starters. The sophomores and freshmen gained valuable playing time in many games because the starters were able to get the team off to a good start and get a commanding lead. Coach Dayton has high hopes for the future varsity teams because of the talent shown by these younger players.

Wrestlers Roll On

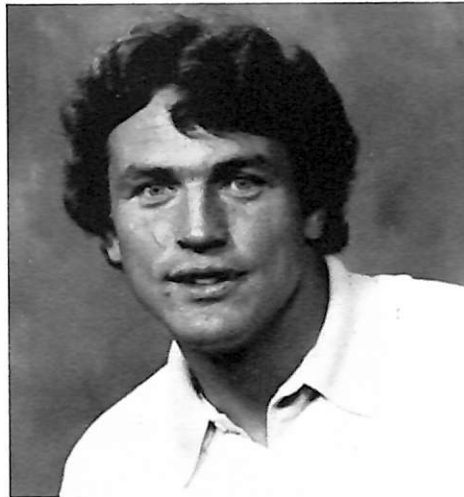

For the first time in seven years, the Panther wrestling team brought home a trophy from regional tournament. Of the 9 wrestlers on the team 6 placed qualifying them for the state tournament. The other three ran into problems because of having to go up two weights to have a spot on the team.

The biggest upset of the tournament was Bryan Dayton's defeat of Kemmerer's Don Brunski, who had only lost one match this year. Brunski had defeated Bryan twice during the season and was favored in his weight class.

Bryan Dayton, Tim Teichert and Kenny Peterson each took the championship in his own weight class. Bridger Fuez and Ken Thornock won third place medals in their classes and Troy Holden finished fourth. By placing in the top four, each person gained a berth to the state tournament in Riverton.

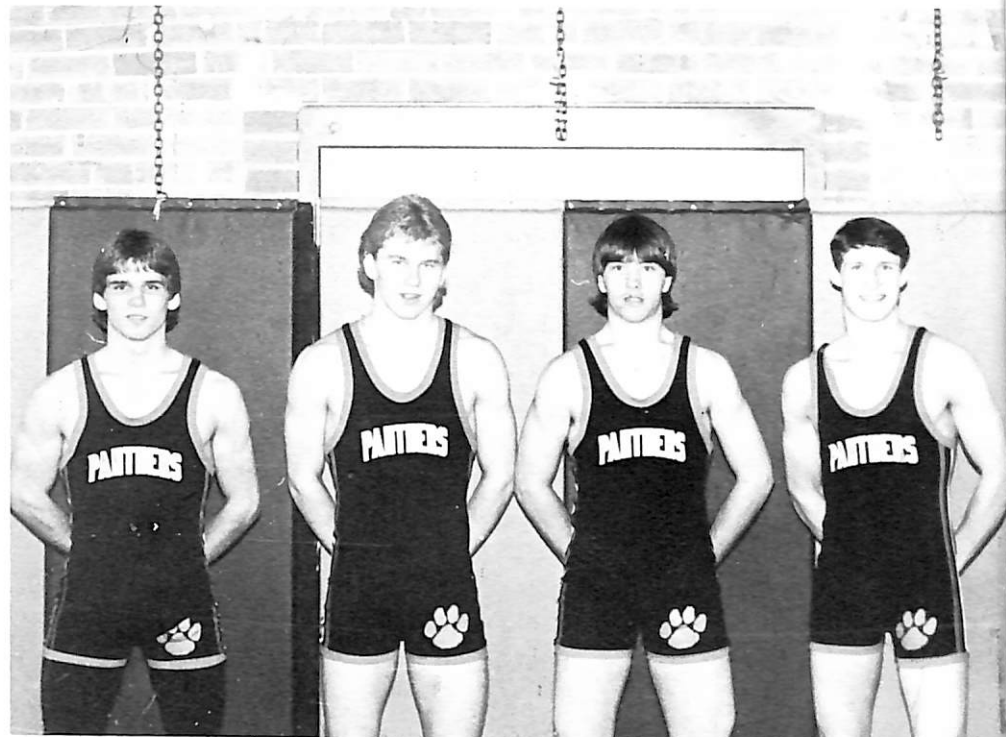

Finding the competition rather stiff, the underclassmen struggled against their mostly 2A opponents. In the semi finals, the Panthers found only 3 wrestlers still active in the tournament. Trying to snatch a place in the state championship match, Bryan, Kenny, and Tim all fell short by as many as 1 or 2 points, while their opponents all went on to win the state championship. When the final dust had cleared Kenny and Tim finished third, while Bryan finished fourth.

Having wrestled a total of 10 years, Coach Teichert's knowledge and experience has been the deciding factor in many close matches.

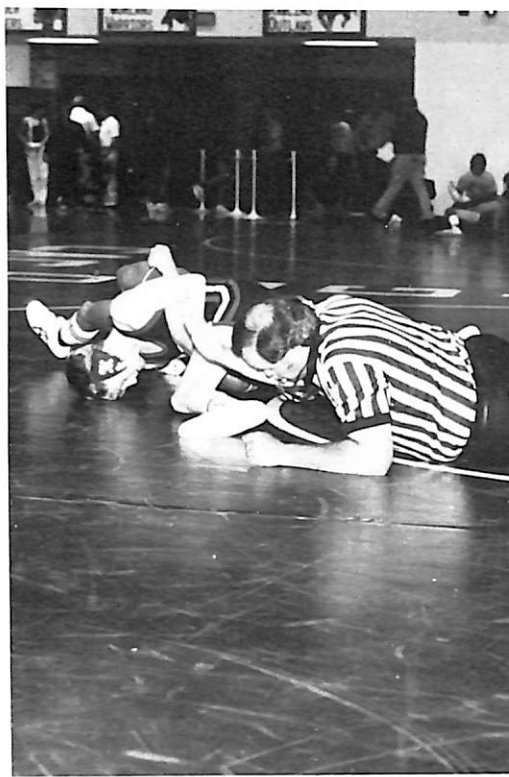

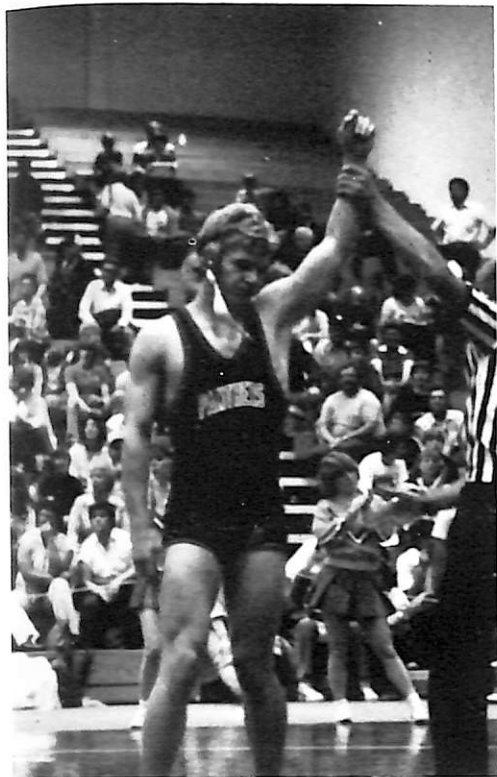

Matmen Records

Name	Weight	Record
Ryan	98 lbs.	15-10
Bridger	105 lbs.	19-11
Ken	112 lbs.	16-12
Ricky	126 lbs.	2-14

Bryan	138 lbs.	19-11
Kenny	145 lbs.	20-2
Troy	167 lbs.	7-9
Tim	185 lbs.	16-2

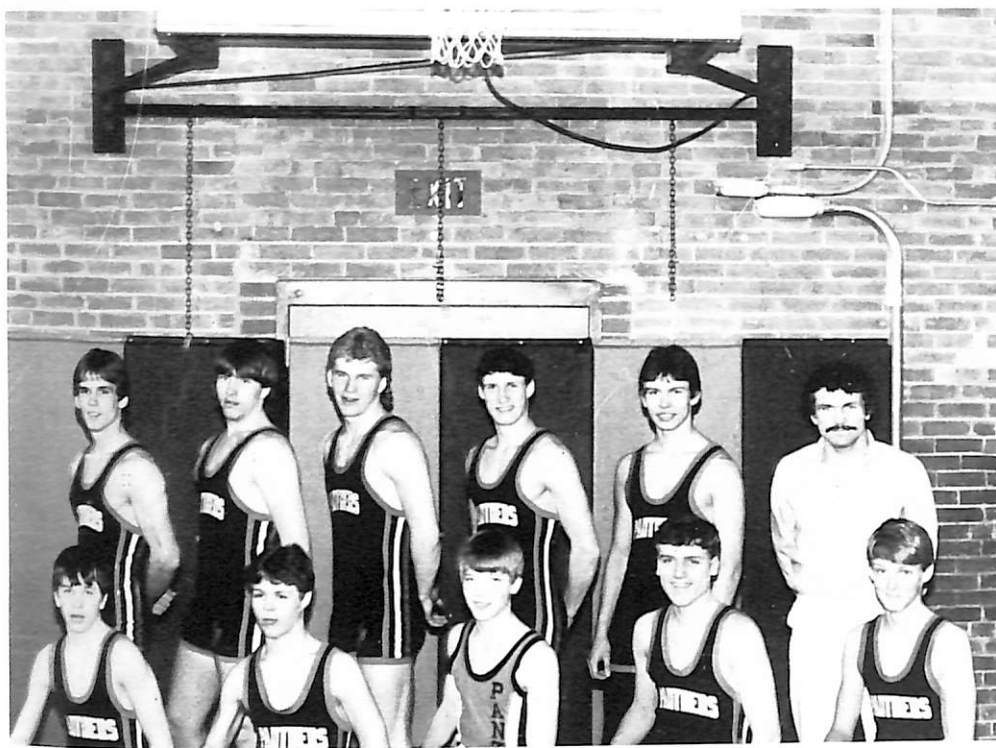

Having had leadership experience in football and basketball, the senior matmen found wrestling no different leading 6 of 9 wrestlers to the state tournament.

Winning four matches at state, Tim Tiechert added to his 99 team points for the season.

Leading the team with 17 pins, Kenny Peterson climbed the state tournament bracket by pinning his opponent from Upton.

Rick Excell gets off to a good start in the 300 meter hurdles.

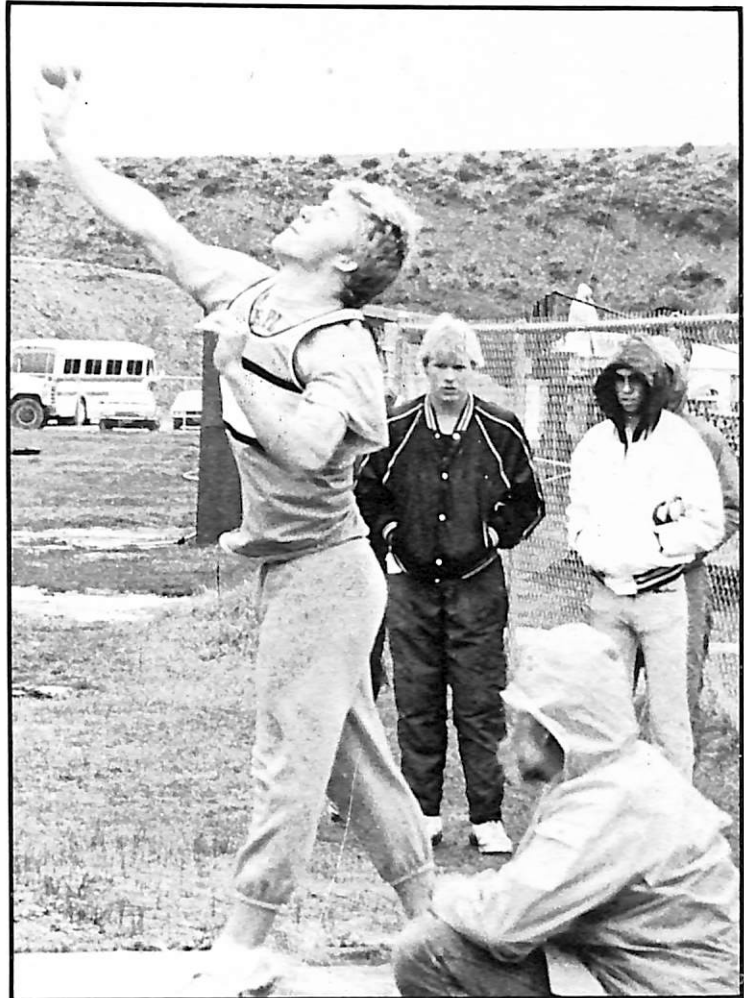

Willie Martinez gives his all in the 100 meter dash.

Along with running the hurdles, Blair Robinson also did well in the triple jump.

Through rain and hail, the boys prevail. The track team was forced to wait two hours in the bus because of rain. After risking life and limb to get down the muddy hill that surrounds Kemmerer's track, the team went on to take the regional trophy. There was a large turnout for the team and it paid off at regionals. State was not as successful but was fun. It's not often that a choice of so many girls in shorts is available, and the boys took advantage of it.

Boys Take Another Regional Championship

Kenny Petersen had a late start because of wrestling but did well enough to qualify for state in track.

Tim Teichert took regionals in the shot-put and the discus.

Placing third in both the 400 and 800 meter runs was Robby Taylor.

Even though the jazz band got off to a rough start on tour because someone forgot his music, they performed well in Laketown and Westside.

After being exiled to the barn away from their girls, Daniel, Troy Holden, tried to kiss Ephraim, Robby Taylor, while dreaming of his girl in the house.

Who was that supporting actor who got just as many cheers as the leading lady and the leading man at the curtain call? It was none other than quiet and shy Brian Dayton (Caleb). He surprised everyone with his great job of "getting into character," as the director, Mr. Birch, would put it. Mr. Birch praised the whole cast for doing such a great job of getting into character. It seemed that the parts were made for the people chosen for them. Kenny Petersen (Adam) also surprised everyone. No one knew he could sing until he got up on that stage. Where's the Music

"Where's the music," cried two of the star trumpet players for Jazz Band. Tour started out with a bang when Troy Holden and Matthew Taylor forgot their Jazz Band Music. Mr. Lamborn fixed this by bringing their music to the Laketown performance. Troy and Matthew were very relieved.

The second day went well with an exciting tour of Utah State University. After touring the university the groups went to Westside High School, for an enjoyable last performance. Even though they had an excellent time they were glad to see their high school come into view.

Pop Groups Achieve Fame

The jazz band added some sounds to their ensemble with Jonathan Teichert on the guitar and Matthew Taylor on the new electronic base.

As the number of members in Jazz Band and Celebration increased this year, so did their popularity. Both groups performed for many different communities and organizations besides the usual Christmas and spring concerts. Celebration received the only 4+ rating from the vocal judges at music festival and were rewarded for their efforts throughout the year with standing ovations. With the addition of new instruments to the jazz band, the group was able to produce even better sound, and with last year's experience showing through, more of the members performed solos in their performances.

Always willing to help his students, Mr. Miller built a music program which was highly praised by the community.

Having already elected the drill team at the conclusion of last year, the Pantherettes wasted no time. They worked hard every night after school in order to get ready for their first performance. The Pantherettes first performed, in new uniforms, at halftime at the homecoming football game. They performed to Van Halen's "JUMP." As the basketball season got underway, the Pantherettes were hard at work again. They learned new routines in order to show their colors at all home games. In April, the Pantherettes held their annual finale. In past years this was the moment when the Outstanding Pantherettes was announced. This year was no different as Cindy Wixom captured the award. A new honor was also given: Miss Personality. The award was based on smiles. Annette Bartschi, Terressa Staniforth, and Kathy Nate were all in contention. Kathy "out smiled" the other two by one smile and won.

Annette Bartschi worked hard throughout the year helping the underclassmen learn new routines so as to look well polished at performance time.

One of the Pantherettes' more exciting routines at the Finale was "Ghost Busted" where lights lit up the room.

Apprehension was on the faces of coach Nate and Dayton as they performed at the Pantherette Finale but as usual were in the heart of the show.

Old and New Cultures Presented

The first assembly began with Mr. Lamborn introducing himself as the new principal and explaining the rules and formalities. Student Body President, Brian Toomer, spoke on pride in the school and on accepting Mr. Lamborn as the new principal.

A mountain man who played in a television series was the first performance at C.H.S. He told some tall tales about mountain men and some fictional stories about himself.

The second performance was a piano player and singer. He not only could play and sing but has written many songs, one of which was a love song for a movie sound track.

Rope experts from Canada were the next performers in the C.H.S. auditorium. They have been all over the world and have won many contests with their impressive tricks.

For the fourth performance, a ventriloquist performed to both the high school and grade school. He seemed to bring his puppets to life with his ventriloquy act.

A magician and his wife came to perform before the high school as the next entertainment. They performed some impressive magic and included some of the students in their act.

The Lyman Singers from Lyman High School, the musical department from South Rich, and the Bear Lake High School musicians all displayed their abilities by singing and dancing musical numbers.

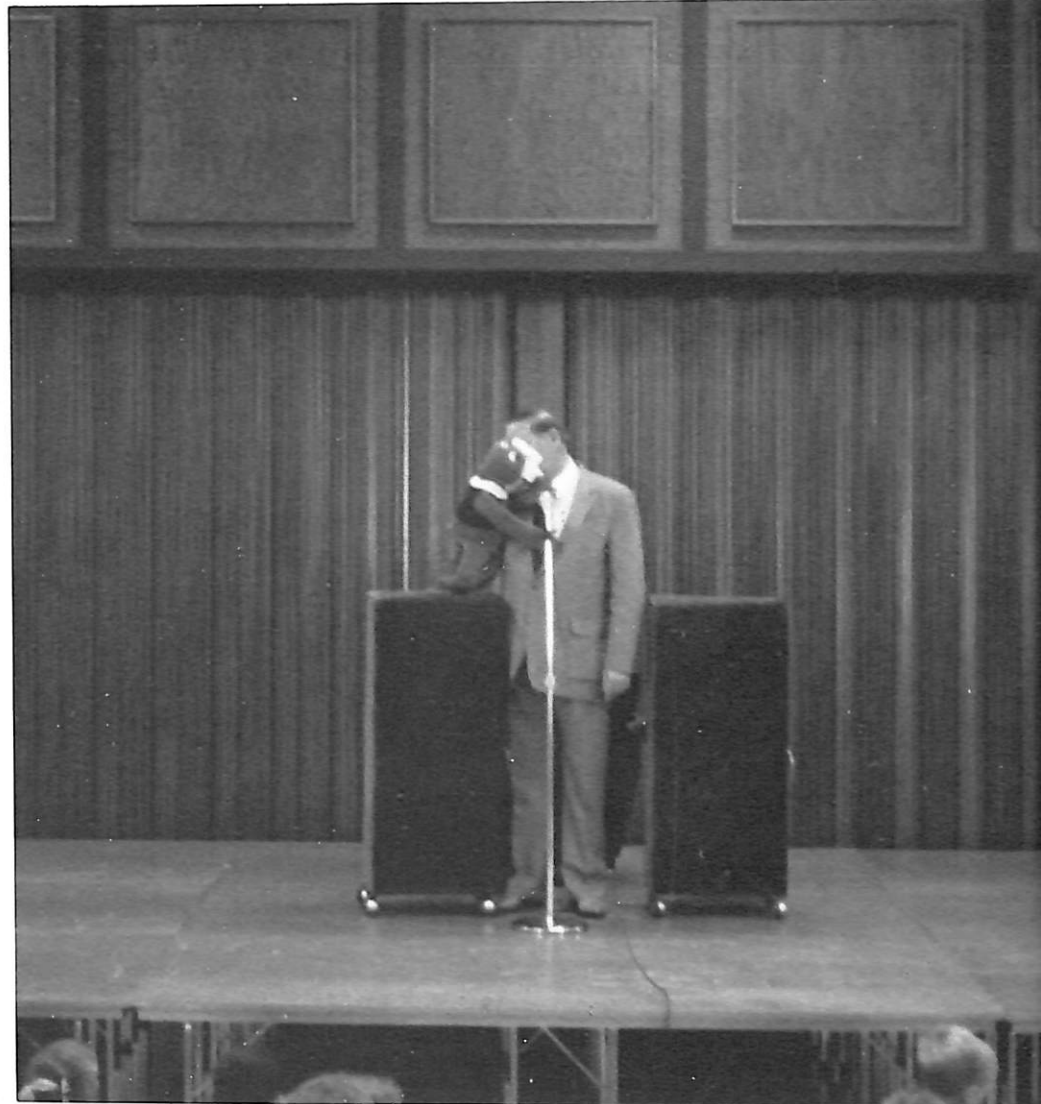

The last performing group was a team of modern dancers from Western Wyoming College. They exposed some new culture to our school through their modern dance.

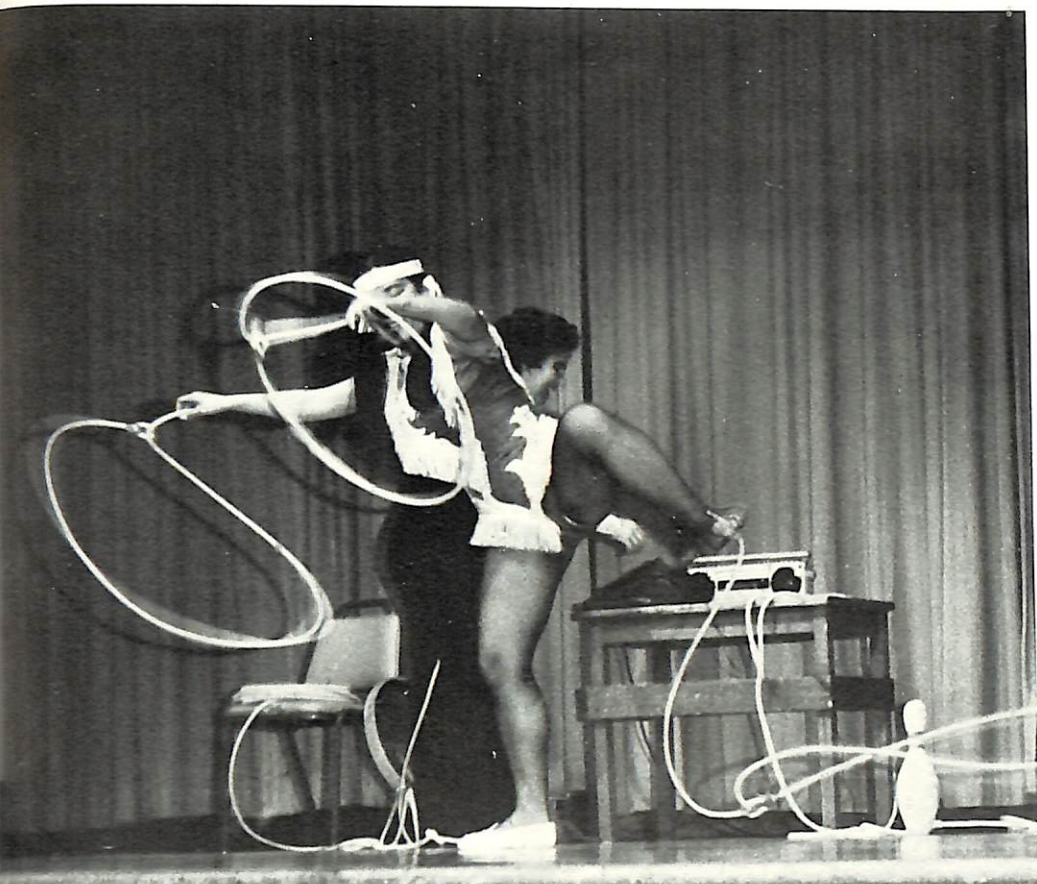

The last assembly was the student body general assembly. At this assembly the candidates for student body offices spoke.

As the ventriloquist presented his frog act, the grade school came to life with laughter.

While explaining how the wild frontier used to be, the mountain man told how he once froze fire.

After performing many tricks with her ropes, the rope expert presented her grand finale by twirling three ropes at one time.

As the ventriloquist talked to the boy, they seemed as two people instead of a dummy and a man.

While Teri Dayton guarded a Lymco player, Linda Pope made a good shot.

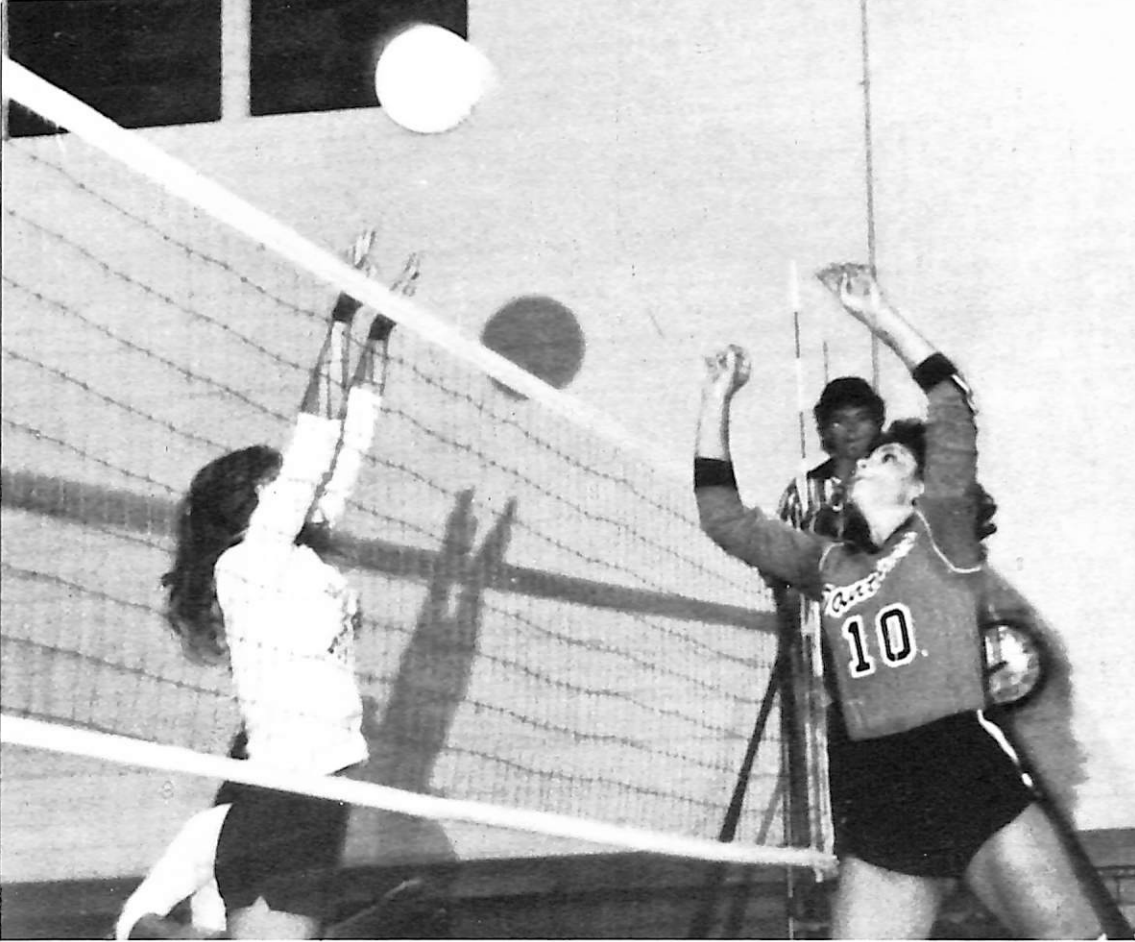

Debbie Vandermuss and Sivi Dayton always showed their excitement before the game as the starting six were announced.

Panther Girls Make History

Never done before, the volleyball team gained a state placement. After taking second at regionals, they ended the season by making a final statement of their overall successes and won consolation. They won their first state match, lost the second, and won the following three. The four of five matches in Cokeville's favor were won in two games each.

Players chosen for all-regional awards were Connie Mower, Peggy Wixom, and Sivi Dayton. An all-state player chosen was Sivi Dayton, who was also the most outstanding all-conference player.

While Peggy Wixom, co-captain, finishes a set she directs it towards a team spiker.

After Sivi Dayton, co-captain, receives the ball from her teammates, Mary Larsen and Peggy Wixom, she raises the score with one of her 'killer spikes.'

"Smash Hit Played in Snake River"

A ball went soaring to the ceiling after it was served by Misti Taylor in a match played in Snake River. Hitting the light fixture, the ball sent the glass crashing to the floor, barely missing Teri Dayton's head. The game resumed while Coach Chad Teichert continued to laugh.

At the season's end, the junior varsity players went with the varsity team to state play-offs to gain experience for future state tournaments. The junior varsity were put to work as managers, filmers, etc.

The team worked well together, and finished the regular season 10-0 in conference play. Quick passes made their fast break unstoppable. At regionals, the Lady Panthers beat last year's region champs, Little Snake River 59 to 55, for the region title.

The girls had a rough start at the state tournament, being beat by the Big Horn Rams, who later finished the tournament as the State Champs. Instead of lying down, the team came back to beat Rock River by the score of 61-45, moving them into the consolation game. They won the consolation trophy by beating the Farson Pro-nghorns 50 to 41.

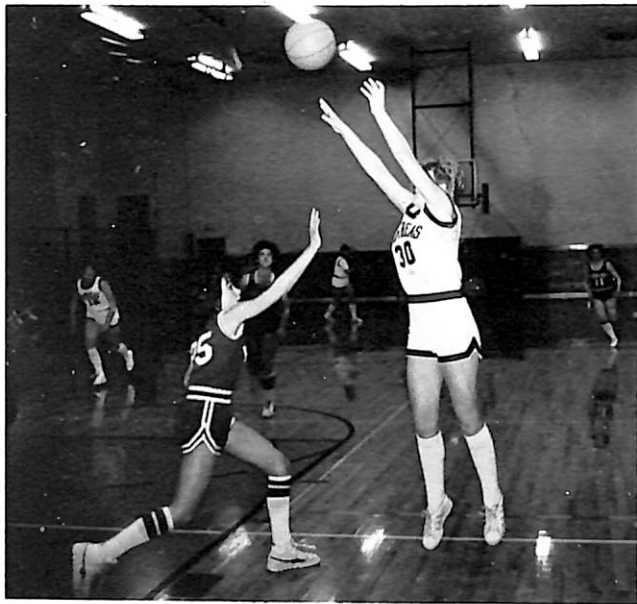

Going up strong, Erin Fuller adds to her 23 points against the Mt. View Buffalos.

After receiving a great fast break pass, Sivi Dayton scores two of her 28 points against the Little Snake River Rattlers.

Kris Coates shows her power under the basket going up strong against the Mt. View Buffalos.

Debbie Vandermuss capitalizes on a great assist from Connie Mower for a jump shot for two.

April Fox does all she can to get over Kellee Eyre from Lyman to add to her 10 points in the game.

The number of girls going out for basketball remained a problem, especially for the junior varsity program. With the majority of the junior varsity team being freshmen, the year was one for gaining experience. It was hard for some of the more talented, younger girls to get needed experience in the J.V.

games because they had to save some of their allowed quarters for the varsity games. The Juniors provided the leadership, as the freshmen contributed with hustle and previously gained skill. Coach Teichert has high hopes for the future years as these girls get more experience.

While preparing for the region track meet, Teri Dayton practices hurdling for the 300m hurdles.

Although Sivi Dayton had to have her ankle taped before each track practice and track meet, she excelled in all her events.

Five Place First

The girls' track team was low in numbers but it didn't stop them from reaching top honors. Because only five girls participated, each one had to take many events to regionals. The girls successfully placed high in their individual events while at the regional meet. Because they placed so high in many of their events, the girls scored very high as a team and brought home the first place trophy. The other side of the state had stiff competition making it hard for the girls to place high in many of their events.

At the regional meet, Linda Pope placed first in the 2 mile, second in the 1 mile, third in the 800m, and fourth in the high jump. Teri Dayton placed first in the high jump, and third in the 300m hurdles. Connie Mower placed first in the triple jump, third in the disc, second in the shotput, long jump, 100m and 300m hurdles. Debbie Vandermuss placed second in the long jump, fourth in the disc, and fifth in the 400m and shotput. Sivi Dayton placed first in the 100m hurdles, 300m hurdles, long jump, and 1 mile, and second in the 2 mile.

At the state track meet, Teri Dayton placed fifth in the high jump. Connie Mower placed fourth in the 100m hurdles, and shotput, and sixth in the 300m hurdles. Sivi placed first in the 100m and 300m hurdles, fourth in the 2 mile, and fifth in the 1 mile.

After placing first at regionals in the triple jump, Connie Mower practices for the upcoming state track meet and stiffer competition

Cheerleaders Overcome Problems

Because of a change in the constitution, and the number of girls who tried out, only three cheerleaders were selected. Another problem that the cheerleaders overcame was a board ruling that the cheerleaders could not travel with the team on any over-night trips. Although they felt bad, they still managed to make it to the games, by finding their own ride, to help support the team. A third problem was uniforms. Even though they ordered them a month after school let out, they didn't get them until the day of Homecoming.

Only three girls were picked as JV cheerleaders too. A problem that occurred with the JV cheerleaders was that they missed cheerleading camp and so they didn't know very many cheers.

Sophomore Girls Terrorize Tourney

Twelve pep club girls boarded the bus at 6:30 p.m. bound for Casper and the boys' state basketball tournament. Upon arrival at 2:00 a.m. everyone was too tired to sleep. So, they all stayed up and watched movies on HBO. At 4:00 a.m. most of the girls were asleep. At 6:00 a.m. the wake-up calls came. The girls had to be ready by 8:00 a.m. to go to the first game of the tournament. After all this, most everyone was tired and after we won the first game, some decided to stay in their hotel rooms instead of going elsewhere. At least they said they were going to sleep. While everyone was gone the sophomore girls and some of the freshman girls sneaked into other rooms and did such things as short sheet beds and mayonnaise toilet seats. Needless to say the rest of the girls and advisers had surprises upon their return. Other than these lovely events, state basketball was a fun trip. The girls helped keep spirit high and really showed a lot of school pride.

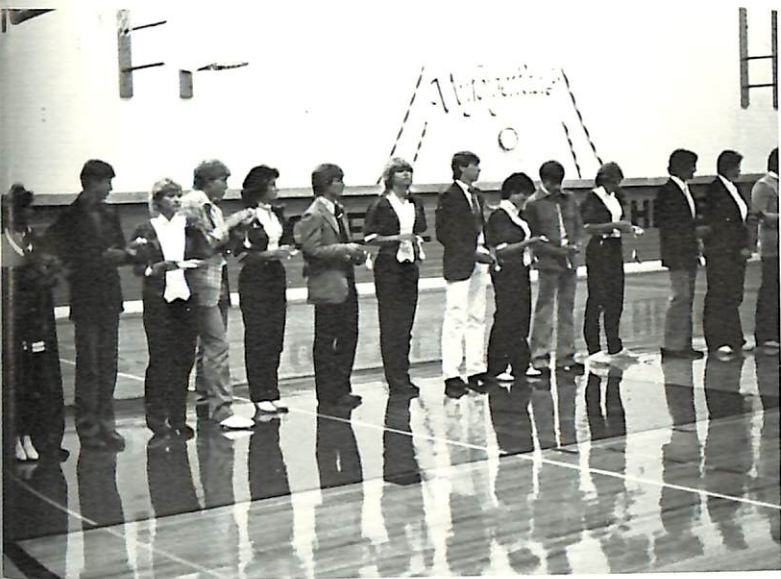

Jan Petersen, Stephanie Holden, Teresa Staniforth, and Misti Taylor schemed together planning their malicious activities for the state basketball tournament.

Homecoming would be nothing special without the pep club to make everything work. The seniors all smiled at the end of homecoming week because they knew it was the last time they would have to do all that work.

F.H.A. Acquires Four Mothers

The F.H.A. chapter held elections at the end of last year to elect four chapter mothers. This enables them to have a chapter mother for each class. The lucky winners at the polls were Barbara Bart-schi for the seniors, Mary Lue Birch for the juniors, Nadeen Henderson for the sophomores, and Bonnie Buckley for the Freshmen. Since this idea worked so well, the F.H.A. will continue with this system in the future.

Computer Helps Publications

Computers have been used more and more in everyday life. Expanded uses have aided many people, and the yearbook staff is taking advantage of the opportunities. The class has previously used the computer for grade reports and some copy. In the future, programs for designing layouts and more copy will help in producing the yearbook.

Administration

Members of the school board paid close attention to Dr. Lowe's speech at the dedication ceremonies for the new elementary building.

NEW Boss Likes C.H.S.

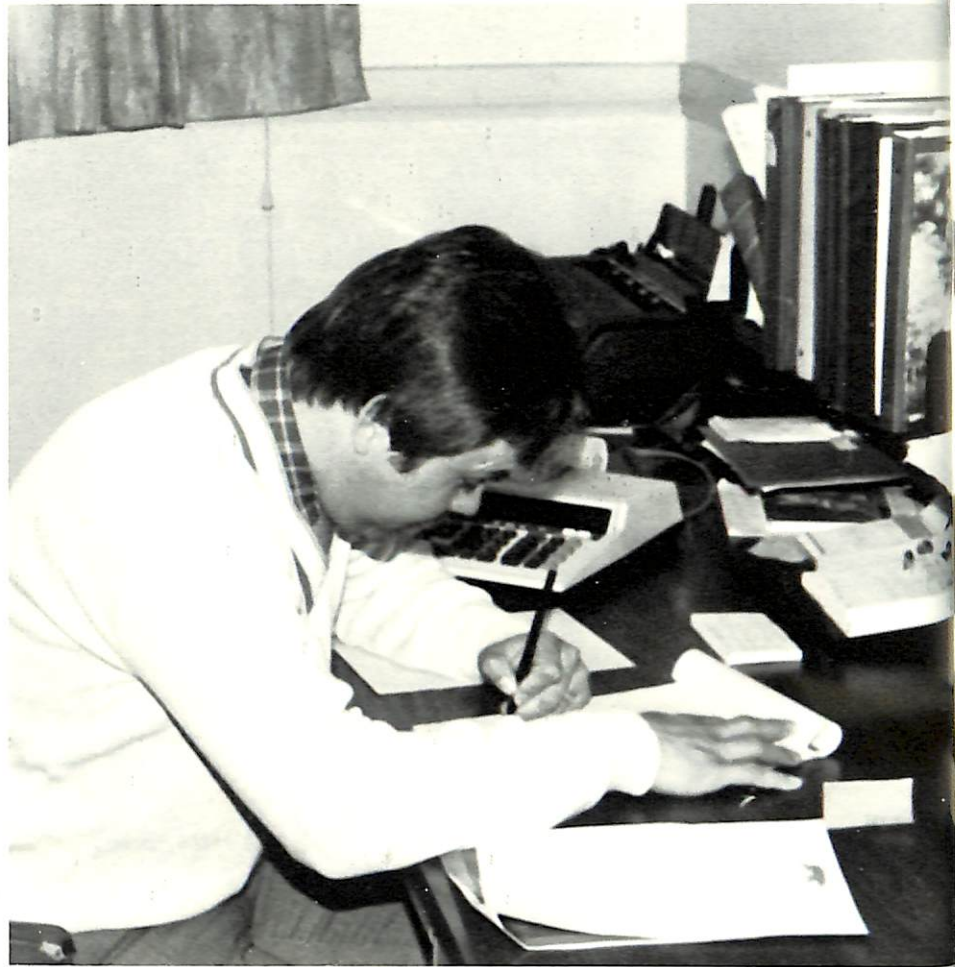

"Inspiration, fasting and prayer," said new principal Dale Lamborn after being asked what made him decide to come to Cokeville. After a few seconds of serious thought however, he said, "I felt it would be an educational and career opportunity and was impressed with the educational system in Lincoln County." This sense of humor was also quite evident as he conducted the annual opening day assembly. That day the whole student body saw his serious side which showed a genuine concern for both the student body and faculty.

Mr. Lamborn, who was practically our next door neighbor, grew up in Laketown, Utah. He attended North Rich High where his father taught and also owned a small ranch on which Dale was loyally employed. After graduating from high school and leaving 4 sisters and 1 brother, he attended Utah State University, majoring in history and minoring in economics. After receiving his master's degree in education, he taught history at South Rich High School for three years. Last summer before coming to Cokeville, he married Patricia Downing. His hobbies included hunting, skiing both water and snow, and horses.

Even though Mr. Lamborn could be considered a rival because of coming from South Rich, he has been accepted well. His high example has given us all something to work for. His hardworking attitude came to the surface before school even started. His good humor and cheery smile helped the monotony of school seem not quite so bad. Congratulations should be given to Mr. Lamborn for a job well done.

Finding most of the day filled with people, Mr. Lamborn finished most of the paperwork from 4:00 until 6:00 p.m.

At a Southwest District Activities meeting in our library, Mr. Lamborn played host.

Aside from their everyday activities at school, the members of the faculty are involved in many things on the side.

For instance, Lyle Forrest is a certified EMT and he and Richard Pieper both attend meetings and fight fires as volunteer firemen.

On weekends Glenn Birch hits the slopes as a member of the Ski Patrol and once a week he travels to the bowling alley in Montpelier for the Country Harvest team.

Almost all of the faculty, however, are full-time comedians. If you don't believe it, try getting a straight answer out of one of them. When asked what projects he was involved in, Todd Dayton said that he was merely "a loving husband and devoted father." When interviewed about his outside interests, Steve Taylor said that he starts the fires to keep Mr. Forrest and Mr. Pieper busy.

Besides teaching and their involvement outside the classroom, the faculty still finds time to model for the yearbook staff.

So this is the reason no one receives their corrected papers on time.

The Three C's of C.H.S.

The cooks, custodians, and chauffeurs are the three C's of C.H.S. These three groups of people not only had to care for the high school but also the new grade school.

The cooks specialized in feeding approximately 110 high school students and also 150 grade school students. Maureen Taylor and Jerrilyn Taylor could be seen every day transporting food from the high school to the new grade school, while Louise Dayton and Maggie Perkins stayed to serve the high school.

The custodial staff consisted of Gary Taylor, Bob Dayton, Delbert Rentfro, Dennis Anderson, and Bruce Brooks. Gary, Bob, and Delbert carried out their duties at the high school while Bruce and Dennis took care of the new elementary building.

Dennis Anderson acted not only as a janitor but doubled as the driver for the activity bus. The other chauffeurs driving the regular bus routes and 6:30 practice buses were Art Robinson, Ed Dayton, Herman Mau, and Ted Brooks.

Without these people, the students of both high school and elementary school would have a hard time getting to school and once there wouldn't get a nice meal or enjoy a well kept building.

In Famine or Fire

Catastrophic events, both internationally and locally, gave people a chance to show their willingness to help. Famine in Africa has influenced international groups to donate financial aid, and fire at Bruce Brooks' house has had the same effect locally.

Band-aid, a music group of assembled British bands, contributed funds from their song, "Do They Know It's Christmas?" Following them, a volunteer group of U.S. pop artists gave the proceeds of their song, "We are the World." They had secretly recorded the song, staying up all night, and it has become a hit, as well as the favorite video of CHS. A country/western group is following by donating funds from their songs, also.

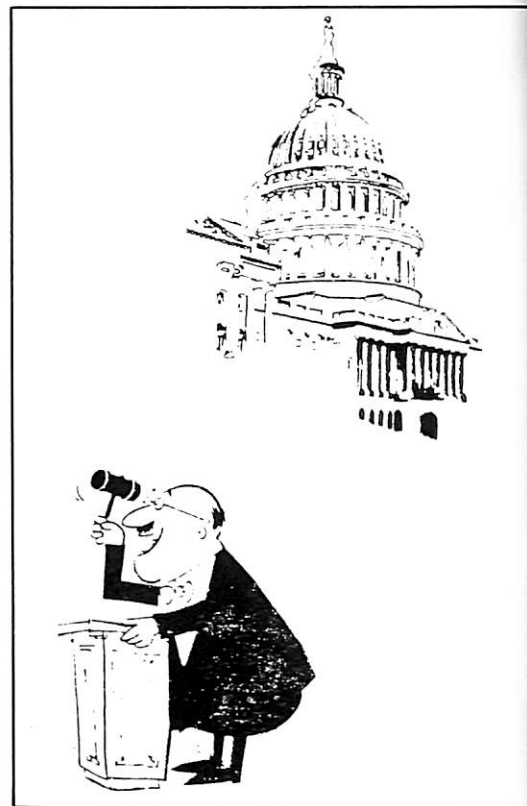

After the Brooks' fire, the local people gave money raised in a pancake supper, an auction of beef and lamb, a dance, Pep Club concessions, and other contributions of time and support.

In the 1984 presidential elections, Walter Mondale chose Geraldine Ferraro as the first ever woman vice presidential candidate. Ronald Reagan ran for his second term in office and succeeded.

International fashions have turned to samples from different eras: low-wasted skirts of the 20's, baggy, pleated pants of the 40's, and pedal pushers of the 50's, are all examples of "acceptable fashions." Locally, some of these fashions are represented, but in general, Levi's 501 jeans, keds (high-tops and no socks for boys), and t-shirts or sweaters are the "fads" of Cokeville.

Fire at Bruce Brooks' house precipitated many acts of kindness toward his family.

When the eighth grade was presented with the bad news that the student council had just barred the junior high students from attending all high school record hops, the class got together to see what they could do to over-ride the decision. The class met with their history teacher and began to write a bill to present to the student council. Each member of the class had to write a bill and then the group got together to combine the best ideas into a single bill. The students were willing to put restrictions on themselves if only they could regain entrance into the record hops. The experience was a great learning experience in government and how the students can properly approach problems in our democracy.

Sixth and Seventh Grade Numbers Boost Team

It was a building year for the junior high football team. Composed of mostly sixth and seventh graders, the team lacked experience. Many of the eighth grade players were out for their first year and had some good playing time even though inexperienced. The team played hard and lost some close games to their perhaps more experienced opponents. With the experience of the younger players, the team should be more productive next season.

With the resignation of last year's coach, the Jr. High were quite skeptical the first day of practice about what to expect from a returned missionary and a rancher. All they could think of was how many ladders they would have to run at the end of practice, how many games they would win, if any, and how ornery the coaches were going to be. As the season progressed and they had to run a few ladders, they realized they could and were winning. The jr. high also noticed coaches Excell and Teichert to be rather human.

With the installation of the new coaching blood, the 7th and 8th graders were led to an almost perfect season. Both teams clearly dominated their opponents, suffering only one loss each. The 8th graders lost to Kemmerer and the 7th graders lost to South Rich by only one point, Randy Nate, who shared playing time on both the 7th and 8th grade levels, was a dominant factor in their 9-1 record.

Wrestlers

It was a growing experience in wrestling for the young junior high matmen. Being young and maybe not as experienced as their opponents, they were able to learn some new things and get better prepared for their next wrestling season. Even though some were young, three were able to grab the first place medal and one took a fourth. Those earning the first place were Justin Pope, Justin McKinnon, and David King in the B division; Danny Mower took the fourth place.

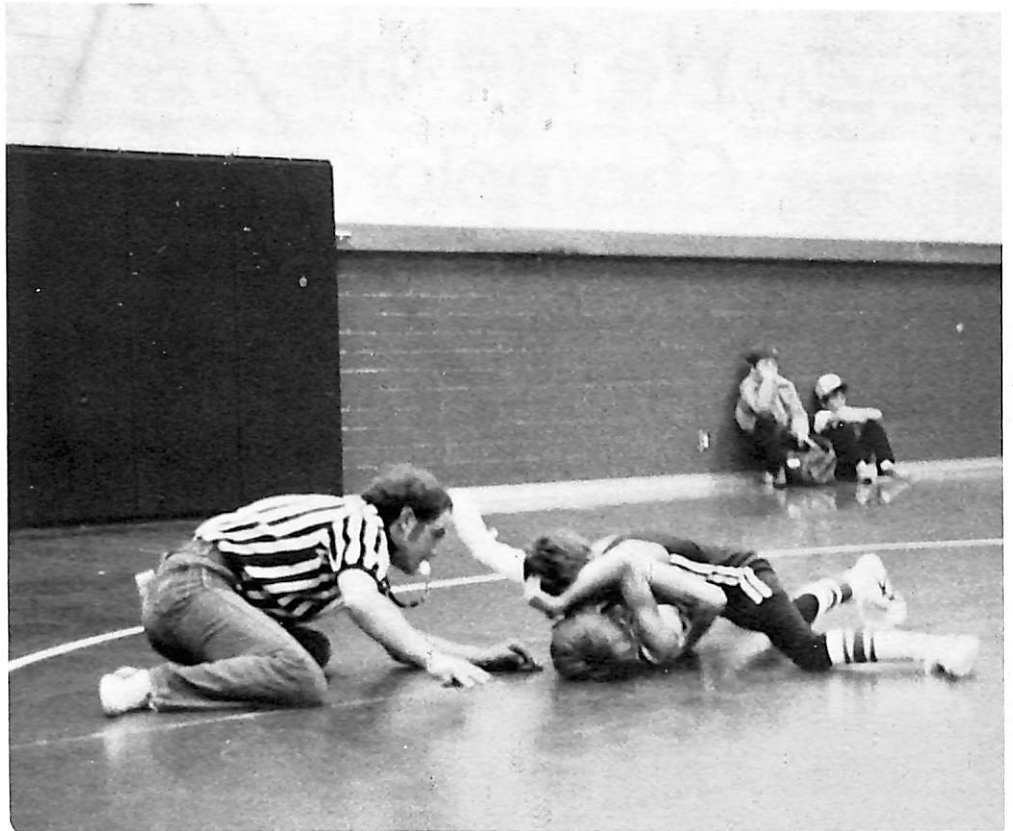

Before beginning his match, Justin McKinnon shook hands and wished his Evanston contender good luck.

The A team did an excellent job. They showed everyone that the junior high can have an awesome volleyball team. They went into the year with a big goal. They came out with great success.

Jr. High Brings Home 2nd and 3rd

The eighth grade girls went to district tournament with a 6-2 record. Their first game at district was against Star Valley who had beat them 36 to 18 during the season. They beat Star Valley 18 to 15 playing with only 3 players for the last minute and only 2 players the last seven seconds, having four of the six on the team foul out. They lost to Big Piney in the second game but beat Kemmerer in two overtimes for third place.

Angie Wilde hustles down the court to set up the offense against the Farson Pronghorns.

Although Traci Nate outjumped a Star Valley Brave, the game turned out to be one of the team's two defeats.

Linda Ferguson not only did an excellent job as assistant coach for the high school team, but she also assisted with the junior high team.

Bringing home the 2nd place trophy, the 7th grade team lost to Kemmerer for the Championship title. They did a good job throughout the season being defeated by only two teams, Star Valley and Kemmerer.

Jr. High Fights Peer Pressure Musically

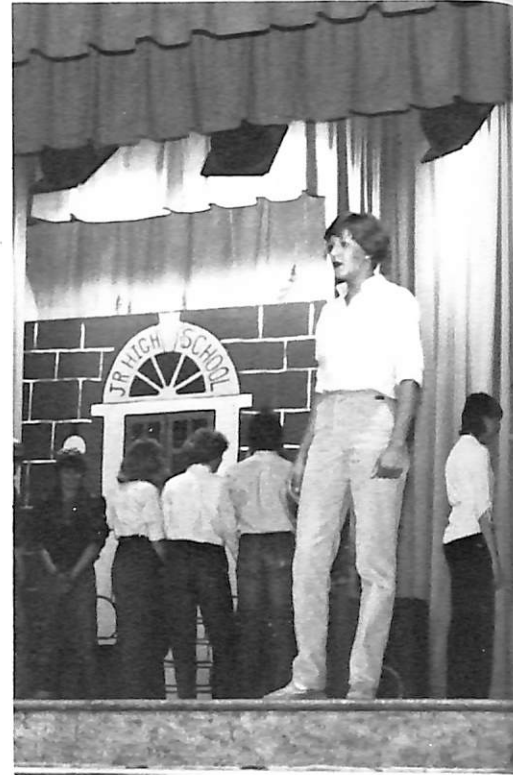

Trying to figure Denton Roberts out, Marni Birch finds the answers through singing.

The junior high musicians show how much enthusiasm they really can have.

Randy Nate lives up to his image of being a ladies man by being the only boy with all the girls.

Kevin Thornock realizes how lonely it can be at the top.

Marni Birch and Denton Roberts finally reunite.

The rough crowd, shows Kevin Thornock the "ropes."

"My fans await"

Kevin Thornock, Marni Birch, and Denton Roberts starred in the play that was put on by the jr. high. Teen I was done four years ago, by the juniors and seniors of this year. So the 7th and 8th graders finished it up by doing the play Teen II. The play brought out how peer pressure can affect the lives of young teenagers. It also brought out the point that you cannot always get everything you want. This was shown when Denton thought he could get on the team without giving too much effort, but it ended up that he didn't make the cut. This was a good play that showed what teenagers do go through.

Brand News

"Exciting", "Happy", and "Good", were some of the feelings expressed by some of the second graders when they were asked how they felt about their brand new school building. On August 29, 1984 approximately 150 students grade K-6 began school in the new Cokeville Elementary building. After school had been going for a couple of weeks, a dedication ceremony was held. The builders, architects, and administrators were all present. The elementary children also performed on the program.

After attending in the new building for the entire year, some sixth graders were asked about their opinions of the school. Most of the students said they liked it but were anxious to go back to the high school. Greg Holden said, "It is bigger, but it's kind of out in the 'loony tunes'." Rachelle Taylor enjoyed the library and Robin Stonecypher liked the larger restrooms. But Abby Birch expressed all of the sixth graders feelings when she said, "The best part was being the oldest in the whole School." Even though these sixth graders only got one year in the new school it will be enjoyed a lot by others in years to come.

The national and state colors flew proudly over the beautiful new elementary building.

Mrs. Carol Petersen and Wendy Anderson talked about Math every day in the 6B classroom.

One of the most exciting parts of the new school was the new playground equipment. Joelle Dana enjoyed the slide.

Jerrik Hirschi enjoyed the break in the third grade work when the students took turns reading the "Weekly Reader."

The grade school program of work is no longer just reading, writing, and arithmetic, but now computers are enjoyed by students as young as second grader Ranelle Dana.
